ITV confirms brand new game show, In With A Shout, hosted by Joel Dommett

Coming soon to ITV1 and IT VX

Joel Dommett is set to host a brand new high octane game show, produced by Expectation, where contestants are challenged to shout at the TV to win a fortune.

This fast paced game show, launching on ITV1 and IT VX, will see two families battle against each other in a thrilling game with a uniquely challenging twist. With an impressive prize of a whopping £20,000, the contestants will have to answer questions hidden within a montage of moving images.

To win the cash, the contestants will have to shout the answers displayed on TV screens. For every category that they get right they move further up the money ladder but the pressure is on, as the families will have to bank as much cash as possible and avoid crashing out altogether.

With the chance to quadruple their prize pot, the stakes are high for the winning family who will have just 60 seconds to successfully answer questions correctly to turn off the TV's. If they fail to turn off all ten tellies within the timeframe, they walk away with nothing.

Joel Dommett said:

"I am beyond excited to be hosting my first quiz show. It's always been a dream for me and I can't believe I'm finally here, plus it's a show I love SO MUCH! I'm ready to cheer, console, congratulate and sometimes laugh at our wonderful contestants. I'm always shouting at the telly so the hardest part will be for me to stand silently and not join in. It's going to be so much fun I can't wait to get started!"

Katie Rawcliffe, Head of Entertainment commissioning, ITV said:

'In With A Shout is an exciting format which will have audiences shouting at their screen, you can't resist playing along. Joel is the perfect host to bring sparkle and warmth whilst guiding the contestants to victory. '

Ben Wicks, Creative Director, Entertainment for Expectation said:

"We couldn't be more excited about making In With A Shout with the wonderful people at ITV and the prodigiously talented Joel Dommett. This WILDLY frenetic format is perfectly tailored to his comedic skills. Families of Britain, prove yourselves to be the best or fail hilariously."
